Grace brings a wealth of global experiences to the table and the necessary delivery skills that have enabled workshops to be not only relevant and engaging on the day, but also highly successful beyond. Grace and her team are highly aware of our diverse cultural and language needs and are able to communicate culturally appropriate material in multiple languages – a factor that has certainly helped accelerate and embed change within our organization. We will be looking to partner with GPC again on projects in the future.”

“The workshop provided by Grace went far beyond our expectations. Prior to the workshop, Grace insisted understanding our needs and has consequently adapted her session to our requirements, which were more about the practical & down-to-earth aspects of a chemical industry. With her dynamism, her professionalism, her international experience and her impressive communication skills, she got the whole audience completely interested and motivated by the workshop. An internal evaluation has rated her performance to 93%. Therefore, our organization highly recommends Grace for any training/workshop related to the management within an international context.”
